

Direct Mail Price Guide

Direct mail continues to be one of the most effective tools for reaching individuals who meet your target profile. Some might tell you direct mail is old school – and I guess it is – but nothing beats the impact of a physical, tangible message delivered into the hands of potential buyers.

Know why you're mailing

It goes without saying that you should know your objective before you begin. By that, I mean are you generating leads, orders, free trials, store traffic, retail purchases, seminar attendance, subscriptions, donations? The reason is that different objectives call for different strategies, different offers, different formats and will very likely produce different response rates.

It starts with your list

Most everyone agrees that the mailing list is the single most important element in your direct mail campaign. But finding the right mailing is tricky. First, don't start looking for lists until you have developed a customer profile. We can help you with that.

Don't overlook the offer

While the list will help you reach the right people, the offer will help you generate the response. Take some time to develop an offer that fits your objective. Consider creating a lead magnet for a lead program, a discount or bonus for an order program, a coupon for a retail program or a free gift for a donation program. This is important. Don't overlook it.

Think before you write

Writing is tough enough as it is, but you can make it easier on yourself if you know what you want to say. Take some time to identify your key selling points and how you want to arrange them in your message. Consider where you will place your offer and how prominent it will play in the message. Think about ways to build your credibility. And don't forget to explain how your prospects can respond.

Consider multiple response channels

People like options and the more options you give them for responding, the better your results will be. When planning your direct mail campaign, think about all the ways response could be handled – by reply mail, phone, fax, landing page or (for retail) with a walk-in.

Consider these added services

Our standard direct mail campaign provides you with everything you need to get your mail out to the door. There are some other services that may help your program:

- A lead magnet. For lead generation programs, your best chance for response is with an informational guide or tip sheet. We call these lead magnets. They are not absolutely necessary, but they help. If you don't have a lead magnet, we can create one for you.
- Enhanced personalization. Every direct mail needs to have some level of personalization just to get delivered – and we have included that in our direct mail pricing. But we could produce your piece with multiple levels of personalization on different pieces in the mail or with personalized headlines, images or maps. This is also known as variable data printing (VDP).

Your choice of formats

Direct mail offers many different formats and sizes. For the purposes of this guide, we have provided pricing for four (4) common formats. But you are not limited to these. These include:

- 6x11 Postcard – Postcards are one of the most popular formats today. A 6x11 postcard is the largest size available for basic (letter rate) postage.
- Letter Package – The letter package includes a #10 window envelope, a 1 or 2-page letter and business reply card. Reply card is personalized.
- Survey Mailer – This package includes a #10 window envelope, a 1-page/2-sided survey and #9 business reply envelope. Survey is personalized.
- Folded Self-Mailer – The folded self-mailer is a one-piece format that includes three panels plus a business reply card. Measures 6x28 inches, folding down to a 6x9 mailer.
